

Movin' on up! Queensgate General Manger takes on new role as franchise owner

October 11, 2011

At LaRosa's, we put a big focus on developing our Team Members so they can grow and succeed within our company. As Buddy always says "Good, Better, Best - Never let it rest - Until your Good is Better and your Better is BEST!" Gayle Wright, General Manager of LaRosa's Queensgate is a great example of this in action. This week Gayle purchased the franchise rights to become the new Franchise Owner of the pizzeria she has successfully managed for over 20 years.

"I'm very excited about becoming a Franchise Owner with LaRosa's. I'm fortunate and lucky to have people I can go to as this process continues, I grow and the business grows." ~ Gayle Wright.

LaRosa's Queensgate was opened in 1981 by Stewart Smetts & Gary Dirr. Since joining LaRosa's in 1984, Gayle has fostered many great partnerships and is well-recognized & respected within the downtown business district and neighborhoods she serves. Gayle also has an amazing track-record of leadership herself as many of her Team Members have stayed on board with her throughout the years.
